COMMENT OF THE DAY

Our Refugees

MR U Tat-chee's personal campaign in America to publicise Hongkong's refugee problem ranks as a considerable service to the Colony, and is appreciated as such. There may be no immediate tangible results, but it is encouraging to know that in consequence of Mr U's efforts, many people at United Nations headquarters now possess an appreciation of a problem about which hitherto they have been ignorant and apparently uninterested. The Colony is entitled to the active as well as sympathetic interest of the United Nations in this subject. To date Government, together with local organisations, have had to bear the full responsibility of dealing with the problem in face of the knowledge that it is, in fact, of international concern and should long ago have engaged the attention of the United Nations.

On this point Hongkong has reason to feel aggrieved, more particularly when it sees how readily nations have responded to appeals to relieve the problem of refugees and displaced persons in Central Europe. We have been left to our own devices where it has been necessary to endeavour to absorb, employ and provide accommodation for hundreds of thousands of refugees in an already over-crowded area. It is an unfair burden for the Colony to carry.

THE possibility of member states of the United Nations offering to open their doors to Hongkong's refugees appears to be highly remote, though this would be the rational and from Hongkong's point of view, the most effective method of resolving the problem. Failing that, it is a reasonable request that the United Nations acknowledges its obligations to give assistance in other forms.

Mr U Tat-chee has been propounding a scheme which is interesting in conception but which poses some questions and arouses some doubts. Because he is one of our leading industrialists, due regard is paid to Mr U's estimate that given the finance it is possible to build sufficient new factories in Hongkong to employ an additional 100,000 workers. Some surprise, however, must be expressed that there are as many as that number of skilled and semi-skilled labourers on the local unemployment market.

THE idea of putting our surplus population into fully productive work is attractive, but is not a simple undertaking. Factories can be built and can produce manufactured goods, but it is still necessary to find markets for them, which today is becoming an increasingly difficult task. Some encouragement can be derived from Mr U's disclosure that the United States is a potentially big customer for Hongkong products, and a fact which bolsters his scheme is that at the present the Colony's industries are quite inadequate to meet American demands for our manufactures.

The figure which Mr U Tat-chee is quoted as saying is required to put his plan into effect—$10 million—is presumably a token one. It could not conceivably cover the cost of building the factories, houses and schools envisaged in the scheme. Total requirement would more likely be in the region of $100 million. To what extent if any, Government would be expected to contribute towards this capital outlay would require careful consideration.

But the U plan undoubtedly possesses merits and deserves to be studied and evaluated at the highest official level.

HUNDREDS OF CONVICTS BATTLE DAKOTA PRISON GUARDS

New York, May 7. TWO hundred convicts rioted for four hours in the North Dakota State Prison at Bismarck, today before a flying wedge of prison guards broke up the demonstration with gunfire. Six convicts were reported wounded in the guards' charge and four guards who had been trapped in the prison were freed. Some of the prisoners told reporters during the height of the demonstration that they had joined the rioting because guards had been stealing money from the cells. Quelling the riot, the guards raced across the prison yard of the maximum security prison, firing rifles, shotgun and teargas shells into the air. The guards moved in after the convicts had been in complete control of the penitentiary since mid-morning. The guards' rush forced the convicts back against the 20-foot walls of the prison, where 75 guards, policemen and State troopers stood above them with shotguns.

The convicts, who had shouted defiance and threatened a mass escape plan in earlier, were herded into the wrecked cell house. The cell house was shelling with teargas and most of the convicts broke into tears as they were locked up again. Five of the convicts escaped the round-up and were unaccounted for. Warden O.J. Nygara believed they were still hiding in outbuildings in the prison yard. At the height of the riot, reporters talked with five convict leaders through a barred window of the administration building. The convicts charged that guards stole money and valuables from their cells and that one guard in particular taunted them with stories about their wives and sweethearts outside the walls. It was this guard who touched off a sidebar strike in the prison twice factory which later turned into a full-scale riot, the convicts said.—United Press.

IMPORTANT TERRORIST CAPTURED

Ipo, May 7.

Gurkha riflemen and local special constables last night wounded and captured Chin Voon, 35, Chinese branch committee member of the outlawed Malayan Communist Party, whom security forces have described as the one Communist terrorist in Malaya known to have a special liking for an expensive brand of British cigarettes.

An announcement today said Chin Voon was caught in an ambush laid by 2/8 Gurkha Rifles and special constables on limestone cliffs, five miles south of Ipo. He escaped wounded in both arms but later was captured attempting to crawl under a guarded perimeter fence around a Chinese-owned tin mine.

He had an empty revolver tucked around his waist.—Reuter.

US GROUP SEEKS 'TRUSTEESHIP' OF FORMOSA

From RENE MacCOLL

Washington, May 7. The news that the United States is installing a "Matador" guided missile launching site on Chiang Kai-shek's Formosa comes today at a time when powerful forces are moving to induce the United Nations to give America "trusteeship" of the island.

This would mean the end of Chiang's influence there and make Formosa a second Okinawa.

The Matador now being installed in Formosa has a 600-mile range—covering the Chinese cities of Nanking, Shanghai and Canton.

Nine more guided missile units are planned for Formosa. One extreme right-wing group which is pressing for what would amount to annexation of Formosa by America is the Citizens Foreign Relations Committee.

The committee has large funds at its disposal and is backed by some of the richest big concerns in America.

Washington Worried

Washington is worried over the fact that

★ 1. Formosans are openly saying they much prefer the Japanese rule to that of Chiang.

★ 2. Chiang's troops are aging, growing hopelessly stale, and fast losing all stomach for a fight.

If America does get UNO trusteeship over the island it would be trailing her coat with a vengeance.

Mao Tse-tung has repeatedly vowed to his people that one day Formosa will be recompensed in China.

But if America took the island over Mao would know he would have to go to war to make good his boast.—London Express Service.

Forest Fire Hits Town

New York, May 7. A forest fire driven by 30-mile-an-hour winds roared through the outskirts of Manchester, Mass., today, burning several homes.

Every able-bodied person in town was called out to fight the flames. Civil defense director John Cullihane declared a state of emergency.

The fire, located in a development known as the Charles Walker Estate, was driving toward the centre of town a mile away.

Residents in the path of the fire hastily carried their belongings and furniture out of their homes.

More than 1,000 pigs were set free when the fire advanced toward the building.

Embers and cinders were carried on the high wind into the centre of town, creating new fire hazards.—United Press.

Malaria Cure Discovered

Mexico City, May 7. Mexican doctors have discovered a new drug that is reported to cure malaria with two or three applications, the Public Health Secretary Ignacio Morones Prieto said today.

Morones Prieto said results achieved with the drug have been "miraculous," with only three pills a malaria patient can be totally cured.

The new drug is already produced in Mexican laboratories and work will start immediately on "some 400,000 patients throughout the country."

Morones Prieto said main ingredients entering into composition of the new drug are pririmethamine and primaquine.—United Press.

CHINCOM TOTTERING

Modification Of Harsh American Proposals Sought

Washington, May 7. The virtual dissolution of the China Control Committee (Chincom) in Paris is considered possible by foreign diplomatic sources here unless the United States is willing to modify its new proposals for stricter trade regulations with China than with Soviet Russia.

Chincom is scheduled to meet in Paris today to consider these proposals, which were recently given by State Department representatives of the 14 Chincom nations, including Japan and many European countries.

It is believed the Chincom meeting in Paris would adjourn for a week to consider in detail these proposals and to try to find out how adamant the United States is in not modifying its new proposals for stricter trade regulations with China than with Soviet Russia.

The sources point out that that cannot be traded with China should be abolished and that 50 types of goods on this list should be embargoed for trade with China.

GIVE REASONS

The sources point out that a large number of different items which can be traded with Soviet Russia and which the other Chincom nations want to trade with China are excluded in the United States proposals.

What the other Chincom nations want to know, they said, are the reasons for excluding so many items for trade with Communist China that can be traded with Soviet Russia. —United Press.

Costello Gaoled For Contempt

New York, May 7. Frank Costello, a gambler who has been described as the overlord of the underworld, received a 30-day workhouse sentence today for refusing to answer questions before a Grand Jury investigating an attack on him last Thursday.

The former bootlegger and slot machine king was found guilty of contempt of court for scorning a judge's order to tell the jury what it wanted to know about the shooting and about a paper found in his pocket showing $651,284 in "fake."

Judge Jacob Gould Schurman of General Sessions passed List 1 concerns war materials which are automatically banned in trade with Soviet Russia.

List 2 concerns quantities of goods that can be traded with Soviet Russia, but which is under constant review.

The one modification the United States proposes is that the special China list concerning 207 different types of goods

MONTY SAYS: RUSSIA NOT LIKELY TO START N-WAR

New York, May 7. Field Marshal Viscount Montgomery, Deputy Supreme Commander of North Atlantic Treaty forces, arrived here today for a three-week visit which will include talks with President Eisenhower and the United States Joint Chiefs of Staff.

In reply to questions he said he agreed with the British Government's decision to reduce manpower in the armed services.

"I think the British have taken a very brave step. I think the deterrent to war has reduced the place where Russia for the time being is not willing to take the risk of a nuclear attack," Viscount Montgomery said.

He added that Europe was, in his view, the one place where the Soviet Union would not launch an attack "for the time being," and that it was "unlikely that a nuclear war will be launched by Russia in the foreseeable future."

Asked about demands for limited nuclear tests, Viscount Montgomery said it would be "madness" not to continue developing such weapons. He said the hydrogen bomb was a weapon placed at the disposal of nations.

"I would say that if you go on fighting, you use whatever weapons you need to defeat those you want," he said.—Reuter.

Electronic Lovers Break Engagement

Hollywood, May 7. Science suffered a setback today when a pair of electronically matched fiancées —28-year-old Barbara Smith and 28-year-old John Coran—broke off their engagement.

Last October, on a television programme the famous electronic machine "Univac" was introduced. It was claimed that the Univac could pick out the qualities of the ideal man—or woman—and find the perfect mate.

A thousand women replied to the television questionnaire. Miss Smith, a pretty telephone girl, was found to be the "ideal woman" and young Coran, a publicity agent, was picked as the "ideal man."

The electronic couple became famous overnight. They announced their forthcoming marriage, and were offered a honeymoon in Paris by the company sponsoring the radio programme.

But today, they broke off their engagement. Love has not reached the machine age, they explained.—France-Press.

SYRIAN NOTE

Damascus, May 7. The Syrian Government has warned Turkey that the massing of Turkish troops on the Syrian border could jeopardize relations between the two countries, informed sources said today.

The warning was contained in an aide-memoire addressed to the Turkish Government.

Russians Have Left Hand And Right Hand Trouble

Moscow, May 7. MR Nikita Khrushchev, the Soviet Communist Party Chief, criticised "Soviet Ministers today when he complained to the Supreme Soviet about the big evils of departmentalism."

Throughout 1956—and even this year—he said, Mr D.V. Raisin's Ministry for Steel and Chemical Industries, Construction and Mr Nikolai Dyrin's Ministry of Construction, dispatched large numbers of prefabricated houses to the Krasnoyarsk (Siberia) region from the central areas. But at the same time, large numbers of prefabricated houses were being sent from the Krasnoyarsk region to the central areas by Mr Georgi Orlov's Ministry of Timber and Mr A.K. Kortunov's Ministry of Construction for Petroleum Industrial Enterprises.

All this was due to "departmental chauvinism," Mr Khrushchev declared. "Uneconomical transport costs the State quite a few hundred million rubles every year."—Tass.

Hussein's Promised Subsidy In Danger

Beirut, May 7. The agreement reached by Egypt, Syria and Saudi Arabia to pay an annual subsidy of £12,000,000 to Jordan is in danger of being annulled before it has been implemented.

A Syrian Government spokesman has announced that talks are to take place between Syria and Egypt on the one hand and

Jordan on the other to obtain from Jordan "clarifications on the conditions of American financial aid to Jordan."

Affidative Arab sources state that Syria and Egypt are prepared to annul the agreement concluded with King Hussein if they decide that American aid compromises Jordan's independence.

The two countries with the co-operation in Saudi Arabia had agreed to grant Jordan annual financial aid in place of that previously given by Britain, in order to ensure Jordan's security and independence.—France-Press.

AMERICAN DIPLOMAT EXPelled

Washington, May 7. The Soviet Union today expelled an American diplomat in Moscow for "activities incompatible" with his diplomatic status, the State Department announced.

The United States promptly branded the action as "unjustified" and protested to the Soviet Foreign Ministry.

The American ordered out of Russia was Martin S. Bowe, Jr., a 40-year-old second secretary at the Embassy. He was serving as general services officer at the Embassy, a job entailing housekeeping duties.

UNJUSTIFIED State Department spokesman Lincoln White said, "we know of absolutely nothing which would justify any charge scraped by Port of London authority officials and a police launch will escort her from the dock to her next port of call at Greenwich at the mouth of the Thames.

Police said the launch was a precaution in case a boat attempted to pull alongside the ship during its voyage down the river.—United Press.

Threat To Blow Up Israeli Ship

London, May 7. Police received an anonymous telephone call tonight warning that an Israeli ship in the Port of London was going to blow up.

The ship, which was not identified, was immediately searched by Port of London authority officials and a police launch will escort her from the dock to her next port of call at Greenwich at the mouth of the Thames.

Police said the launch was a precaution in case a boat attempted to pull alongside the ship during its voyage down the river.—United Press.

DIEM'S 'CELEBRATION' VISIT TO US

Britain And France Against ECE Having Atomic Energy Organ

Geneva, May 7. Britain and France today opposed Soviet proposals for the creation of an atomic energy committee within the United Nations Economic Commission for Europe.

Mr D. A. H. Wright, of the British delegation, to the 12th session of the Commission, said that the future International atomic energy agency was the "only proper forum" for international collaboration. In this field, and that the setting-up of

Complicated

He said that Britain "cannot participate in any work on which the ECE might decide to embark on the peaceful uses of atomic energy."

MOVE TO OUST SARAGAT

Rome, May 7. The Left-Wing Socialist, Signor Pietro Nenni, appealed to the Social Democrats tonight to throw overboard their leader, Signor Giuseppe Saragat, and join with Nenni's Party in a "great political battle" against the middle-road regime.

Signor Nenni made it clear, in a report to his Party's Central Committee, that he hoped to carry Italy's one-day-old government crisis a long way further than Signor Saragat intended to when he touched it off yesterday.

Increase Travel

Premier Antonio Segni resigned last night when Deputy Premier Saragat walked out of his government coalition in a sudden about-face.

Through his dramatic move, Signor Saragat hoped to appear rebel factions in his Party and tighten his slipping grip on the Party leadership. He made it clear that he did not intend to go ahead with the projected merger with Signor Nenni's Party unless Nenni dismoured his remaining links with the Communists.

But Signor Nenni tonight flatly refused to be moved into an anti-Communist position and appealed openly to the Social Democratic rebels to merge with his Party over Signor Saragat's head.—United Press.

EISENHOWER DOCTRINE ACCEPTED BY MOST COUNTRIES: RICHARDS

Urabat, May 7. Mr James Richards, President Eisenhower's special envoy who left here for Washington tonight, told reporters that the majority of the 15 countries he had visited had accepted the principle of the Eisenhower Doctrine for the Middle East.

He added: "None of the 15 countries which his mission visited ruled out the proposals of American aid in the framework of the Eisenhower Doctrine."

It was announced that Moroccan policy remains unchanged after the visit of Mr Richards.

A communiqué issued by the Foreign Ministry after a meeting between Mr Richards and Sultan Sidi Mohammed Ben Youssef, said Mr Richards was given the warmest welcome.

He had explained details of President Eisenhower's Doctrine and the aims the United States was pursuing in that part of the world.

"In a framework of mutual comprehension, this expose was listened to with the greatest attention in view of the interest Morocco has in the consolidation of peace in the Middle East."

The position of Morocco remains, moreover, what it was at the time of the visit of Vice-President Nixon," the communiqué said.—Reuter.

HOSPITAL GUTTED IN FIRE

Quebec City, May 7. A general alarm fire roared through a 300-year-old wing of the Hotel de Ville Hospital here today, gutting several wards and forcing the evacuation of some 200 women patients.

No injuries were reported in the blaze. Firemen and flames under control within an hour of the first alarm, but motorists and pedestrians attracted to the scene disrupted traffic at the height of the rush hour.

The Hotel de Ville Hospital, built in the early 17th Century, is the oldest in North America. Faulty wiring was believed to have sparked the blare, but this could not be immediately confirmed.—United Press.

Explorer Dead

Zurich, May 7. German explorer, Wilhelm Fitchner, famous for his expeditions to Tibet and other Asian countries, died at the age of 70 in Zurich hospital today.

Professor Fitchner also led an expedition to the North Pole under the auspices of the German Government. He was the author of a number of authoritative books on Tibet.—France-Presse.

Nehru Might Visit Syria

London, May 7. The Syrian Government has invited Mr Nehru, Indian Prime Minister, to visit Syria. Cairo Radio said today quoting a report by the Egyptian government-sponsored Middle-east Agency.

The Radio said the occasion of Mr Nehru's return from the British Commonwealth Prime Ministers Conference in London was suggested, but no date has yet been fixed.

Mr Nehru visited Syria on his way back from the United States and President Kennedy was stopped on the way to Switzerland.

Seeks Greater Understanding Of Nation's Role

By STEWART HENSLEY

Washington, May 7.

President Eisenhower tomorrow welcomes to Washington an anti-Communist ally from strategic South-east Asia, President Ngo Dinh Diem of Vietnam.

Diem is due to arrive at the nearby military air terminal at 1600 GMT aboard Eisenhower's personal plane which was sent to Honolulu to meet him.

United States officials said they consider the visit principally "ceremonial"—that is a sort of celebration of the success of Diem's American-supported efforts to achieve stability in his small country since the Geneva agreement of 1954.

They added, however, that they were prepared to discuss matters of mutual interest if the Vietnamese President shows a desire to do so.

Diem has made it clear he thinks there are some problems to be discussed. He wants more American aid than the $280,000,000 per year he is getting at present and also "good" relations. United States "understanding" of his country's role in South-east Asia.

More Aid

Diem claims that the Soviet Union and Red China poured almost $400,000,000 in aid into Communist-controlled North Vietnam last year and he thinks he should have more American assistance to counter what he sees as an increased threat to the sovereignty of his nation.

US officials, including Eisenhower and Secretary of State John Foster Dulles, are prepared to talk to Diem about an intensified allied campaign against Communist infiltration and subversion in South-east Asia, but they do not appear inclined to boost his financial assistance to that great degree.

The American attitude is that increased co-operation among South-east Asian nations to combat infiltration and subversion can be achieved by better arrangements for exchange of security information and tracing of movements of Red agents.

Two Reasons

American officials, when asked why Diem was invited to the United States, declared there were two reasons:

★ 1. The remarkable recovery Vietnam has made under his leadership since Jan. 1, 1954, will split into Red-controlled North Vietnam and the non-Communist South.

★ 2. The stature of Diem as a vivid personality, intellectual and staunch fighter against Communism.

Officials said that Eisenhower and Dulles will reject Diem's suggestion that he be given enough aid to increase his present armed forces of 160,000 men. The American Joint Chiefs of Staff consider this standing force ample for Vietnam to play its role as a bastion in the defense of South-east Asia against possible aggression.

The American view is that the United States Navy and Air Force in the Far East constitute the main defense of South-east Asia and make it necessary for individual countries to have only relatively small standing forces to hold the line temporarily and maintain internal order.

US officials consider that the "emergency" or "crisis" phase of aid to Vietnam now has passed and it is time to consider the problem from a longer range.

Then Barrault and his wife, Madeline Renaud, went on with the show; sketches from some of their plays.

The gain, symbolizing the friendship between Algeria and Paris, was sponsored by Robert Lacoste, French Minister Resident in Algeria.—United Press.

Russian Training Ship In Singapore

Singapore, May 7. The Russian training ship, Polus, with 162 cadets aboard, arrived today for a five-day visit on her way from Vladivostok to the Black Sea Port, Odessa, via Suez.

The Singapore Harbour Board increased its night shore leave passes for visiting Russian ships from 10 to 12 as the Polus has 208 crew in addition to the cadre.

The visiting Russians will be allowed ashore between 9 am and 6 pm for shopping and sightseeing.—Reuter.

MUSSOLINI'S TREASURE KEPT FOR 'SPECIAL RESERVE FUND'

Rome, May 7. A former employee of the Italian police said today that part of the huge treasure captured by Italian paratroopers in April 1945 was a "special treasure fund" kept by former dictator Benito Mussolini in case his government would have to flee to Germany. The wealth, claimed the man, was confiscated by the Germans, he added.

The Radio said the occasion of Mr Nehru's return from the British Commonwealth Prime Ministers Conference in London was suggested, but no date has yet been fixed.

DULLES SAYS NATO MEETING 'BEST' YET

Washington, May 7.

Mr John Foster Dulles, the Secretary of State, returned today from a North Atlantic Pact meeting in Bonn which he described as "in many respects the best Nato meeting I have ever attended."

Smiling broadly as he stepped down from his plane, he said in a formal statement: "There was an informality and scope of discussion which stemmed from a fresh sense of common purpose."

He said that the Atlantic Pact ministers had agreed that member countries would not be affected by recent Soviet operations from using all available means to meet any attack.

"We did not admit that a nation which has itself been guilty of aggressive expansion and which only recently attacked Hungary, could properly dictate the defensive policies of the free," he said.

"Our defensive policies do not, of course, exclude limitations of armament which are mutual and balanced, and where promises will be verified by adequate inspection and control."

Mr Dulles replying to reporters' questions, said he would see President Eisenhower later this afternoon—presumably to report on the Nato meeting.

Mr Dulles said he had had "useful talks with Chancellor Konrad Adenauer of Germany and with Premier Guy Mollet of France."—Reuter.

'EGYPTIANS WILL WIDEN CANAL'

United Nations, May 7.

General Rayford Wheeler, who supervised the clearance of the Suez Canal for the United Nations, told newsmen today that he was convinced that the Egyptian canal authorities would carry out the plans drawn up by the old Universal Suez Canal Company, for widening and deepening the canal.

Speaking briefly to newsmen after his return to New York, General Wheeler said the canal clearing operations might have been completed a month earlier by the Egyptian Government had not prevented UN salvage teams from working on the backbone of two large wrecks in the main channel of the canal.

Wheeler praised the international salvage crews which took part in the clearing operations and, in particular, the Italian divers.

General Wheeler, who lunched at United Nations headquarters with aides of Secretary-General Dag Hammarskjold, was to go to Washington, where his family lives, later in the day.—France-Press.

National Product In Britain Levelling Off

New York, May 7.

West Germany led the field in the growth of its national product between 1950 and 1955, the United Nations disclosed tonight.

The West German national product increased sharply in 1952, recovered in 1953 and 1954 and the average rate of increase of real national product amounted to about one and one half per cent per annum between 1950 and 1954.

A set of tables showed how the capital formation of the various countries was financed in about one third of them, between 30 and 35 per cent of investment was accounted for by depreciation and amortisation of existing capital equipment, but differences in practice were pronounced, ranging from 12 per cent in Israel to 64 per cent in Belgium.

DOMESTIC SAVINGS

In Britain and the United States, about half of the total amount invested came from this source. The greater part of the financing was generally met from domestic savings. But for most of the countries such savings were insufficient to meet the investment bill and the balance was financed by incurring a deficit in their trading account with other nations.

In domestic savings Japan and the Netherlands topped the list, with 70 per cent and 76 per cent in 1954, while Germany and the United Kingdom had 43 per cent and 40 per cent respectively. Australia fourth with 32 per cent.

Trump Lead Sets Bidder

BY OSWALD JACOBY

THE recent Life Master's Individual championship was won by Edgar Kaplan of New York.

One of the hands that contributed to this fine young player's victory is shown today. He was on lead against the four-heart contract and while many players would have opened the tempting club suit Edgar decided in favour of a trump lead. He reasoned that since hearts had been the only suit bid there was no hurry about establishing a club trick and that declarer might need a cross ruff to collect 10 tricks.

In spite of the opening trump lead South went after the cross ruff. It was his only chance,

He won the first trick, played the ace of clubs, ruffed a club, played dummy's ace of diamonds, ruffed a diamond, ruffed the last club and led a spade. West won the trick and led a fourth club. South had to ruff and was down to two trumps, the same as West. South played another spade. West won this and played his last club. This left West with the long trump as the setting trick.

At other tables the king of clubs was opened. Declarer would win the ace, ruff a club and play a spade. From that point, the declarer took several lines but declarer always found time to ruff out his other losing club, establish his fourth spade and thereby make his contract.

THE MOST FAMOUS KNEE IN THE WORLD— IT'S DENIS COMPTON'S

By DEREK JOHN

This is the story of a knee, a right knee. It is the most famous knee in the world. It belongs to Denis Compton. Recently Denis announced that he would retire from cricket at the end of the season. The reason is that gammy knee. But in his great struggle against injury the final victory belongs to Compton.

The knee was first injured when he was playing football for Arsenal in 1938. He had an operation for the removal of a cartilage and the knee did not trouble him again until the summer of 1947.

Then, through the constant strain of cricket on hard ground—that was the season he established a world record aggregate of 3,810 runs—a fragment of bone worked loose in the knee joint.

That autumn Compton had a major operation. He recovered and went on to win an FA Cup winner's medal with Arsenal in 1950.

Came a third operation. In between Test innings against South Africa in 1955 he had to wear iron callipers on his leg. The following winter his crutches; in June he was playing club cricket; in August he hit 94 in a Test match against Australia.

LAST SEASON AS CAPTAIN

Bill Edrich, partner of Compton in many a great stand, also told Middlesex members last week that this would probably be his last season as captain.

Edrich, a real fighter, may go out with one last defiant gesture. Now past forty, he may take on a new role of opening batsman.

For he has the same problem to solve as have the England

An equal and well merited division of this week's Sports Parade Spotlight features Warrant Officer Stanley Harris and S/Sgt. Paddy Croft, both of the Army Physical Training Corps.

Nearly every branch of sport both Service and Civilian will be sorry to see Mr Harris depart these shores.

He has been a tower of strength in the general administration of most sports and has been actively engaged in controlling boxing, swimming, and athletics as referee, selector, judge etc.

He has devoted a great deal of his own time to these sports organisations who wished to take advantage of his vast knowledge and experience, and he leaves these bodies the richer for his guidance.

I hear that he is leaving us and the Army, to take up an appointment with the United States Army at their Valley Forge Academy, Penn., on a Faculty Commission. Having accepted American aid, I suppose it is only fair to return the compliment and the Army's and Hongkong's loss, will be the USA's gain.

On behalf of all Army sportsmen, thank you for your work, bon voyage, and the very best of luck for your future life.

S/Sgt. Paddy Croft has done wonders with his "charge" the HK Chinese Training Unit, making them supreme in the basketball sphere, he has broken new ground and introduced them to the athletic, swimming, and football world where they are fast becoming a force to be reckoned with.

His personal success as an Army hockey player, and as the guiding light in his team's victory in the FARTEL basket-ball championship is typical of this hardworking popular NGO and many besides the HKCTU will miss this cheerful personality.

Good luck Paddy and best wishes for your future success.

FIELD PROGRAMME

The recent spell of hot weather caused swimming enthusiasts to congregate at Eureka Hall Chater Road a few days ago for a Land Forces Swimming Union meeting, and a firm programme of this sport's activities for the season resulted from these deliberations.

It was decided to run three water polo leagues, Army North for the N.T. units, and two leagues for Kowloon and Hongkong. The volunteer secretaries for these last two leagues are Lt Col M Bird of HK Signal Rgt for Army South 'A' and that of the Army South 'B' League in the capable hands of ASM Ken Burroughs of LAA Rgt RA.

The final night saw a large crowd welcome HE Sir Alexander Grantham GCMG who arrived on the stroke of eight o'clock and stayed until the final bell.

It was unfortunate that the fare offered to him and the almost packed Stadium was not up to the usual high standard of the HKABA promotions.

I have heard some criticism of this body for putting on such weak fare. This to my mind is quite ridiculous. The HKABA make all the arrangements, and excellent they were as usual.

But he has not so far at any rate, restricted entries. If any blame is attached to anyone, it should be the Services for allowing unfit and inexperienced boxers to enter and having sent the cream of local Army boxers to Singapore failing to ensure that they would be able to get back in time.

For those experts who have an eye on the Colony Championships, there will be held in the new pool at Causeway Bay, but if this is not ready in time will take place as usual in the YMCA between September 10-28.

Water polo is in urgent need of referees and any interested are asked to forward their names through their swimming Officers the DOPT HOLF.

This is probably the only game in which the threat to toss the referee into the pool holds no fears, (unless there are non-swimmers among the volunteers) so for those who have given up the game or those who aren't quite good enough to make the team, here is an opportunity to enjoy the game at

How Does It Feel To Be A Cricket Widow?

The calypso cricketers are here...the happy bunch of West Indians. They are here until mid-September five months. A long time to be away from home—and, for the married men, from their wives.

by EILEEN ASCROFT

Some of the wives will join their husbands later in the tour.

Mrs John Goddard, wife of the captain, arrives in August;

Mrs Denis Atkinson arrives in September; Mrs Clyde Walcott and Mrs Cecilia Decelles, wife of one of the managers.

But left at home are:

Mrs Everton Weekes and Mrs Tom

Pierce, in Barbados; Mrs Alfred Valentine, in Jamaica; Mrs

Andy Gianteume and Mrs

Abramill, in Trinidad.

Oye, here being English, are

Mrs Sonny Ramashan and Mrs

Frank Worrell.

CHRISTMAS ALONE

How do the cricket "widows" feel at this time of the year as they look forward to weeks of loneliness?

Those most affected are the wives of the top players who are likely to spend months at home while their husbands battle in the sun abroad.

Mrs Penny Cowdry, whose husband was whisked away on tour after only two weeks of marriage, is all for wives joining their husbands abroad. "If they really enjoy watching cricket, otherwise they might get bored, and prove distracting to their husbands."

Mrs Cowdry went out for the last two months of the South African tour last year and loved the experiment.

"I don't think we were in the sun at all; we kept to ourselves and gave as little trouble as possible," she says. But finance may prevent them being able to achieve this happy solution again for some years.

"I feel very sorry for the younger players who cannot afford to take their wives even for a time," says Mrs Jim

Laker.

She joined her husband in South Africa for two months of the six-month tour and took her two small daughters with her.

"We had a marvellous time, I engaged the children in each place to mind the children during the daytime, while I watched my favourite pastime—cricket."

However, many other friends

insist that he defend his title

against Welterweight Champion Carmen Basilio for a big gate in September "because they know I could use the money."

They feel I would be doing an injustice to the hundreds of people who helped me win back the title with their letters of encouragement and their prayers—if I went out at my age and risked losing it again."

However, many other friends

insist that he defend his title

against Welterweight Champion Carmen Basilio for a big gate in September "because they know I could use the money."

Accordingly, I am going to let the public decide. I'll let the fans all over the world write me and tell me to retire or to fight, and I'll do whatever is most popular."

German Athletic Stars To Appear In 18 International Meets

By HANS SCHAEFER

German track and field leaders have completely tuned their 1957 programme toward the building-up of a really competitive team for the 1958 European Championships, a spokesman for the national association said.

To achieve this goal, German athletic stars and promising young talent of the younger generation are to appear in a post-war record number of eighteen international meets here and abroad during the 1957 outdoors season. These contests include everything from full-dress athletic meetings to junior competition and walking events.

Arranging of such a high number of contests with the international athletic elite is in line with the Germans thorough and detailed plans to have team available in next year's European title events that could pose a major threat to their international competitors. Sporting leaders here are of the opinion that training sessions alone will not be enough to raise the standard of athletes to run, jump and throw their way into the top international circle. It is believed that stiff international competition coupled with thorough training sessions are the best means to achieve this goal.

It was also believed that by matching the athletes against as many as possible foreign competitors, the men and women get tougher and gain better nerves, something they have sometimes been badly lacking at the 1956 Olympic games at Melbourne.

DISCUS CHAMPION

Such "nervous shot circles" which had come to light at Melbournie deprived several top German athletes from good chances in their various specialties. Among those who had fallen victim to their nerves was good-looking Arneke von Lawrau, the national discus throwing champion, who completely failed to live up to expectations of the sport world.

The 1957 outdoors season, moreover, should give more and more young talent a chance to prove themselves in straining international competition. During the past few years, there has been a kind of "inbreeding" in the national "A" team since top performers like the twin European sprint champion Helmut Fuerstner, middle distance star Gunter Dohrmann, distance runner Herbert Schade, and others had been filling standard positions while specialties succeeded in placing among the first three.

Last but not least, German athletic leaders will spur their star performers and up-and-coming youngsters to improve the standards in several events,

NORTHAMPTONSHIRE BEATEN

West Indies Forced To Fight Harder Than Expected

Northampton, May 7.

West Indies followed up their innings victory over Worcestershire in the opening match of the tour by beating Northamptonshire by four wickets in an exciting finish to the second game here today.

The touring team had to fight much harder than expected after Northamptonshire had made a fine recovery to score a second innings total of 332 and set the West Indies to make 96 runs for victory.

This seemed a moderate task with over two and a half hours left for play, but after an opening stand of 49, half the side were out for 65. John Goddard, captain of the tourists, then rallied the side when 18 runs were still needed and six wickets down.

He hit two splendid boundaries and finally made the winning stroke with ten minutes left.

Desmond Barrick (122) and Australian-born George Tribe (101) added 179 for the 4th wicket to help Northamptonshire's recovery. Final scores were: West Indies 323 for seven declared and 96 for six; Northamptonshire 91 and 332.

Tribe, whose innings lasted 213 minutes and included two sixes and 15 fours, became the first Northamptonshire batsman to score a century against any West Indies team and also had the honour of being the first batsman to take a century off the present touring side.

LAST MAN OUT

Barrick, who came in at the fall of the second wicket, was last man out. His 122, made in six hours five minutes, contained 17 boundaries.

Their stand of 179 was a fine effort and they completely overshadowed their colleagues, the next best scorer being Jack Livingston with 27.

The opinion of most onlookers was that Tribe and Barrick proved that the West Indies

BOYS AND GIRLS GET FREE GOLF COACHING SCHEME IN NEW ZEALAND

Hundreds of New Zealand boys and girls are to be seen every Saturday morning on golf courses, throughout the country swinging their way towards proficiency.

They do it under a scheme, organised by the recently formed New Zealand Golf Foundation, which has already produced much promising material.

One of the main aims of this scheme is to raise New Zealand's standard of golf in international competition by matching correct technique to instruction given by club professionals or amateurs paid for by the Foundation, which raises its funds mainly by a levy on all adult golfers.

A non-profit organisation, the New Zealand Foundation follows very closely the set-up of the Golf Foundation of Great Britain but with the necessary modifications for New Zealand conditions.

Although it is not the organisation's intention that golf should interfere with or supersede any other school specialty at the 1957 Indoors championships.

On the distaff side Brumhilde Hendrie, 18, also should not have much difficulty in knifing her way into the national team. Her best result last year was 11.8 seconds for 100-metre dash.

Another promising youngster is broad jumper Juergen Neuss, 19, who won honours in his specialty at the 1957 Indoors championships with 7.13 metres.

On the distaff side Brumhilde Hendrie, 18, also should not have much difficulty in knifing her way into the national team. Her best result last year was 11.8 seconds for 100-metre dash.

The Germans international programme for the 1957 season, among others, calls for meets with Spain, Holland, Poland, Luxembourg, and France.—United Press.

Some of the youngsters who have set aside corners of school grounds for golf coaching purposes and have provided facilities for indoor instruction. The main aim of teaching, however, is undertaken on club and public courses.

The plan of instruction suggested to the clubs covers a 12-lesson course, each of at least one hour, going by stages through the lofted irons, putting and finally to wood.

In classes of up to 20, the youngsters are given encouragement as they become more proficient.

Youngsters are given incentives in the nature of free subscriptions to the golf club of their choice.

Any girl or boy showing talent above normal is offered a comprehensive system of professional and amateur coaching the costs of which will be borne entirely by the Foundation.

Some of the youngsters who have passed through the preliminary stages of instruction are already taking a prominent part in their club competitions.—China Mail Special.

EASY SECOND ROUND WIN BY LEW HOAD

Rome, Italy, May 7.

Top-seeded Lew Hoad of Australia spoiled his opponent's first set and then stormed back to eliminate Gordon Talbot of South Africa, 3-6, 6-3, 6-1, 6-0, today in the second round of the Italian Tennis Championships.

Hoad, the defending champion, was making his first appearance in the tournament. He had drawn a first-round bye.

Second-seeded Ashley Cooper of Australia, who also had a bye in the opening round, downed Alberto Lazzarino of Italy in straight set, 6-3, 6-2, 6-4.

Two upsets were posted during today's programme, following the surprise elimination of fourth-seeded Neale Fraser of Australia yesterday. Francisco Contreras of Mexico turned back Paul Remy of France, 2-6, 6-0, 6-3, 12-10, and Abe Segal of South Africa whipped seventh-seeded Luis Ayala of Chile, 3-6, 6-0, 6-1, 4-6, 6-4.

A second round match between Sid Schatz of the U.S. and Italy's Lucio Paganelli was held by default with the Italian leading 3-6, 6-3, 6-2. It will be resumed tomorrow.

MILLIONAIRE SOCCER DADDIES WANT CHARLES II

Let there be no panic if Britain seems overrun with Italian and Sunderland millionaires chasing transfers and true confessions!

A nation's football which can survive the shocks of two world wars and of Chelsea winning the championship will not disintegrate merely because now and then a player thinks spaghetti grows on trees.

It secret that he would like to go to a land where not many months ago 323 allegations of bribery in the game officially were investigated.

We must expect sky-the-high bids soon for brother Melvyn Charles, of Swansea, and Tommy Taylor and Duncan Edwards, of Manchester United. No Busby Baburno is safe in his bed tonight. The hunt is on.

EUROPEAN CUP

In Italy the stakes are high, and I will tell you why. Personal ambition and vast box office takes of the new money-spinning European Cup have dazzled playboy proprietors. Vital statistics always make an appeal in Italy.

What Mr. Fiat (Juventus, Turin) has done today will be attempted tomorrow by Mr. Oliviero (Internazionale, Milan), Mr. Vermouth (Torino, Turin), Mr. Real Estate (Lazio, Roma), and Mr. Tinetti (Ravoli, unattached).

When their agents began to scour Britain I called Sunday Dispatch correspondents to make a survey of what's happening in Italian Soccer. Their answers reveal either football fantasia or reality as your judgment dictates.

Italy annually is lavishing hundreds of thousands of pounds on its football foreign legion, for the club which can buy a league championship pennant gets the big pay-off by competing in that European Cup.

But we must keep correctly the proportions of this Italian Soccer set-up. How big is the threat to Britain's stars?

Italian clubs are permitted only three foreign players. Few vacancies exist now, because this quota is almost taken up.

Furthermore, of the maximum number of overseas players permitted, the third cannot be signed unless the other two are of Italian extraction—as Charlton's Firmani was—or have been with the club for five years.

So Britain could not be blamed for more than half a dozen players at the most during the next year.

Yet even that threat must be countered. Our League clubs cannot afford to lose the few footballers who pack in the crowds.

How is this to be done under a system which stops players cashing in on transfers

Triumph of new self-winding watch

ROLEX of Geneva commissioned the Tudor Oyster Prince specially for men who want a self-winding watch of high quality—without paying the highest price. To prove the Tudor's perfect efficiency, a test device was set up in which it was exposed to the arch-enemy of the ordinary self-winding watch, vibration.

In one, the Trial of Destruction, the Tudor was strapped to the wrist of a workman operating a pneumatic drill for a total of 30 hours. The invincible Tudor emerged from the ordeal quite unharmed, ticking as accurately as ever.

Two other test features—the waterproof Oyster case, and the "oyster" self-winding mechanism—make the Tudor Prince a miracle of precision.

If your aspirations are higher than your bank balance, go to your nearest Rolex jeweller. Ask to see the beautiful new Tudor Oyster Prince, in gleaming stainless steel.

PROSPECTS OF BANK RATE CUT Macmillan Government Expected To Restore Expansionism

By SYDNEY S. CAMPBELL

London, May 7. Another half per cent cut in the London Bank rate has become feasible. On the eve of Easter the Treasury bill rate fell to below 4 per cent, and this technically undermines the 5 per cent Bank rate, just as happened to the 5½ per cent rate before it was cut on February 7.

Lower money rates are a saving to the budget and the balance of payments, by reducing the interest on the national debt and on the huge sterling balances owed abroad. They greatly helped the Treasury's imminently necessary operation to re-finance its £300 million maturity in mid-June.

Any change in Bank rate would normally come before rather than during a major Treasury operation of that kind. Prospects for the operation, which were grim just before Easter, became much brighter after the holiday, when the gilt-edged market started to register the cut in the bill rate and the hopes of a cut in Bank rate.

Cheaper money can thus benefit the public sector without bringing the danger of reduced inflation in the private sector or threatening sterling abroad. The biggest budgetary surplus in several years, and the budget's maintenance and tightening of the restrictions on business credit, do much to curb the private sector. Anyway, high taxation blunts the impact of dear money. When tax takes fully a half of business profits, it halves the effect of a change in money rates as of any other change in business costs.

Russian Buying

Lower money rates, the incentive budget, the defence cuts and several other developments imply that the Macmillan Government in its remaining term aims to restore the expansionism of 1952-3 after the restrictionist intervals of 1955 and 1956 (in which Bank rate was increased by 2½ points). Sterling may fare better from such evidence of dynamism. Its present firmness is an additional good argument for a cut in the Bank rate.

Recently, transferable sterling was boosted (indeed squeezed) by Russian buying, probably to pay for Russia's sugar purchases. After the Easter holiday all types of sterling again turned firm, largely because overseas centres are still heavily short.

The international monetary background also seems reasonably propitious. New York's bank rate has been kept down to 3 per cent, even though the bill rate has for months been above it — a relationship which previously would have been considered unthinkable for more than a few days.

Germany, who shared Britain's 5½ per cent Bank rate last summer, has pre-empted Britain in cutting it to 4½ in two stages. Moreover Germany's present money policy (which, with the D-mark so strong, is internationally crucial) seems to be selective credit controls rather than direct money which (as happened last year) would frustrate the hopes of restoring the capital market which Germany so vitally needs.

Overvalued

Japan, whose balance of payment has sprung into deficit this year because of her internal boom, is applying the remedy of tighter money. France, with a grievous deficit and a grievously overvalued currency, has raised her Bank rate, but it is still only 4 per cent, actually lower than Germany's whose situation is as strong as France's. Britain's present conditions, if not so strong as Germany's, are far stronger than France's and are not in the same phase as Japan's.

If the cut in Bank rate does come it may well be represented in the same way as the February cut, not as any relaxation of monetary control but, on the contrary, as a better monetary control, cheaper". An ineffective Bank rate, one based on a market, is not much use regardless of whether it is high or low. This may dispose of the argument that any relaxation that can be afforded would be better directed to cutting the purchase tax or the hire-purchase restrictions rather than to cutting Bank rate. A Bank rate cut might not be any relaxation.

CHATTER ON WALL STREET

New York, May 7. Selective strength should continue but sustained movement above the 500 area of the industrial average at this time continues to appear imminent, according to E. F. Hutton & Co.

Reynolds & Co. says the probabilities of a technical correction of the market's current run-up are sufficiently good to warrant the expectation of better buying opportunities. John H. Lewis & Co. analyses the Western Air Lines, estimating the company will earn $2.75 a share in 1957 against $1.27 last year.

Walton & Co. noting that Carrier Corp. has budgeted a 20 per cent sales rise, estimated net for 1957 at $6.40-$6.50 a share, against $3.20 in the previous fiscal year.

Arthur Wiesenberger & Co. calculates the break-even value of Locus at more than 40 and measures potential earnings power at $2.50-$4.00 a share, annually within a few years.

Dreyfus & Co. presents what it calls two "closure time" stocks—American Machine & Foundry estimated to earn around $4 this year against $3.03 in 1956, and Black & Decker which it says may show 20 for fiscal year ending September 30, against $5.17 in previous fiscal year.

Harris Upham & Co. estimates Stone & Webster will earn $4.00 a share this year, against $3.33 in 1956, might increase year end extra.—United Press.

TUNNEL NEWS SENDS CANAL SHARES UP

London, May 7.

Shares of Suez Canal Co. featured the upside in irregular and moderately active dealings on the London Exchange today.

News that the Canal Company, which lost control of the Canal to Egypt last summer, is now negotiating for a role in building the first tunnel between Britain and the continent, sent shares up 2 shillings 9 pence.

Elsewhere, industrials were mixed, with declines seeming to outnumber gains. Shares of Colvilles dropped another shilling and others were down 6 pence or less.

There was moderate demand for engineering, tobacco and other stock interests. Political uncertainties in South Africa caused gold shares to weaken. Oils were moderately lower.

British Government bonds had losses ranging to 10 shillings in old consols. Foreign bonds were idle.—United Press.

CARGO EXPRESS

"Intervia" reports: "TWA has started a weekly freight and mail service between Genoa and New York by way of Paris and Shannon. The service, to be known as 'Cargo Express,' will be mainly destined for shipments of the Swiss watch industry, but bulky loads, and live animals will also be accepted. The flight will leave Geneva-Escherich every Saturday night." DC-4 transports will be used."

Harris Upham & Co. estimates

Stone & Webster will earn $4.00 a share this year, against $3.33 in 1956, might increase year end extra.—United Press.

SMALL GAINS SHOWN ON AMERICAN COTTON MARKET

New York, May 7.

Cotton futures today see-sawed narrowly in quiet dealings but managed to show small gains most of the time.

Closing prices ruled 4 points higher to 6 points lower. The market opened up 1 to 7 points. New Orleans closed up 5 to off 5 points.

Profit-taking by some recent buyers, plus routine hedge selling and New Orleans offerings on balance, supplied a routine demand from the trade and commission houses.

The expiring May delivery stabilized around the 35.51 cent level, with spot interests supplying a scattered demand. No delivery notices appeared today. The open May interest totalled 60,300 bales. The certificates of baled stock remained at 11,951 bales.

Market's stability was coupled with four factors: 1. Concern over the late crop start in central and western sections; 2. A broadening inquiry for goods in the textile market for last half delivery; 3. Doubts about changes for important changes in farm legislation in the near future; 4. Continued heavy sales of raw cotton out of the government's surplus stock.

The Commodity Credit Corp. on bids submitted on April 30, sold 143,614 bales at an average price of 27.61 cents a pound for middling inch in various locations. All this cotton must be shipped out by Aug. 15.

On the second export sales programme, the agency sold 17,073 bales at an average of 27.30 cents a pound for shipment after Aug. 15. Aggregate sales under the old programme reached 7,582,038 bales plus 2,320,000 bales sold under the new programme.

Technical consideration and other primary markets combined to put prices on an upsurge today. Dealers also reported a fair-sized factory demand in the delivered market, attracted by the recent price decline.

In the shipment market, fair quantities of three ambers, May shipment, were reported down from Indonesia at 27 cents a pound, cost and freight, L.C. No. 1. This was quoted at 31½ cents.

SINGAPORE

The market opened lower to disappointing overseas advices and some early bull selling but at lower level the market improved on good trade buying and some short covering.

Manufacturers stayed on sidelines but there was a good demand for lowers and blankets from Europe. Future:

JOHN CLARKE'S CASEBOOK

'It's Pure Drivel'

IN youth no complaint is more healthy than restlessness. Young people cast around for the right line to follow, like hound puppies lost for the scent, and doing so they can try their parents sorely. But such searching often holds more promise for the future than too easy acceptance of the first job that offers, and it is only when restlessness becomes a chronic, that it becomes a problem, as it seems to have done for Adrian.

Adrian is a lanky New Zealander of 20, whose first four working years were spent in his father's business.

THE BANK BOOK

SINCE then he has tried his hand at many things—as airmail typist, X-ray technician, clerk, in two continents. A short time ago, Adrian decided professional photography was his bent. He became a student photographer, and wrote a letter home, "Dear Dad," he wrote, "please send my bank savings book, as I need the money to visit Germany..." Letters from his father continued to arrive as they always had, but in none of them was the bank book mentioned, though Adrian introduced the subject into each of his replies.

The other day, at Bow Street, Adrian pleaded guilty to stealing two pocket dictionaries from a station bookstall.

DOUBTS

"I HOPED my father would be notified of my action," he said to Sir Laurence Dunne, the chief magistrate, "and seeing that it was reduced to stealing, would send my bank book." "I chose to stay last night in the cell instead of accepting bail, in order to punish myself," he added in a martyred voice. "Just you listen to me," said Sir Laurence. "It's pure drivel, this story of stealing to attract attention. Pay a fine of £5."

Refugees On Hunger Strike

Salzburg, Austria, May 7. Desperate Hungarian refugees today decided on an unlimited hunger strike to protest against the suspension of Hungarian immigration into the United States lifts the ban on Hungarian immigrants, the sources added.

A total of 3,000 Hungarian inmates of the refugee camp here said they would refuse to touch any food, indefinitely, unless the United States lifts the ban on Hungarian immigrants, the sources added.

The hunger strike went into effect early this morning. It was provoked by an alleged statement by an American immigration official to the effect that "the United States cannot accept any more Hungarian refugees".—United Press.

Test Postponed One Day

Las Vegas, May 7. The first US atomic test shot of the spring—summer series was postponed today from May 13 to May 16, the Nevada test organization announced.

Nine nuclear explosions are to be set off at the Nevada test site, 70 miles northwest of Las Vegas during the series.

Mr James Reeves, test manager, said the extra 24 hours would be required for technical preparations for the first shot.—Reuter.

Mr Cousins editor of the Saturday Review, said in a dinner address that peace depended on a "rule of law in the world" and the United Nations should be made into a "vehicle for world law" seeking justice "for the entire human community."

He will be accompanied by another of the special group, Dr Mark Mills.

American sources said the suggestion made today to the disarmament subcommittee by Harold Stassen, head of the American delegation, for a control on exports and imports of arms might be accompanied by a ban on arms shipments to certain regions.

Mr Stassen also suggested that the movements of land, sea and air forces across frontiers through international waterways and over air routes should be reported in advance to an international control organisation.

Stassen said these two suggestions were not indispensable, but would be useful.—France-Presse.

Partial Disarmament Agreement In Sight

London, May 7. All the delegations to the London session of the United Nations disarmament subcommittee seem convinced that a partial agreement on disarmament is now in view, sources close to the American delegation indicated.

The primary task now was to select the common elements from the various proposals submitted to the subcommittee for inclusion in a general agreement, these sources said.

Put Panama Canal Under UN Control Suggests American

Washington, May 7. A magazine editor, Norman Cousins, proposed today that the United States place the Panama Canal under United Nations control as an example of a new approach to the problem of world peace.

His proposal was made at a banquet of the America-Israel Society, a private organisation. Guests included the Assistant Secretary of State, Mr William Rountree, some members of Congress and nine ambassadors.

Waterways should be placed under the jurisdiction and operation of the United Nations.

"As evidence of our good faith we should offer to place the Panama Canal under United Nations control. We are in the fortunate position of being able to use the Panama Canal as a concrete example of the principle we espouse before the United Nations. Indeed, our relations with the Arab countries would profit more from such an example than from the kind of military aid that is now being sought."

Mr Cousins' two other proposals were that the US (1) call in the United Nations for end to Arab-Israeli belligerency, and (2) make a "massive new effort" inside the UN on behalf of refugees in Palestine, India, Pakistan and elsewhere.—United Press.

Frontier Declaration By Reds

Prague, May 7. Poland and Czechoslovakia today reasserted the inviolability and permanent character of the post-war Oder-Nisse frontier between Poland and East Germany.

In a joint statement after five-day political and economic talks here, the two governments accused the Bonn government of refusing to pledge that it would never use force in its relations towards Poland and Czechoslovakia.

The Oder-Nisse border, known in the Communist states as the "peace-frontier" is between 80 and 100 miles east of Germany's 1933 frontiers. It incorporates inside Poland the former German provinces of Silesia, Pomerania and East Prussia.

"SPECIAL CONCERN" Some West German politicians claim that the return of the provinces should be included in any lasting peace settlement between a reunified Germany and the four powers who fought against her in World War two.

The Czechoslovak-Polish statement said the present situation in West Germany was causing deepest concern" to both countries.

"Czechoslovakia and Poland cannot remain oblivious to political developments in West Germany which clash sharply with the interests and security of all nations in Eastern and Western Europe," it said.

The Polish delegation, led by the Premier, Mr Józef Cyrankiewicz, left by air today for Warsaw.—Reuter.

King Shakes Up His Staff

Damascus, May 7. King Hussein of Jordan has decided to transfer all but four of his palace staff to other posts because he has discovered they are members of the pro-Egyptian Socialist Arab Resurrection Party, it was reliably reported in Damascus today.

Bahjat Talhoun, Chief of the Royal Cabinet, will stay at his post, the report stated.—France-Presse.

Buried Treasure: More Information Needed

Kuala Lumpur, May 7. Mr N. M. Warmington, General Manager of Malayan Collieries, said today that if he were given more exact information on where a Japanese corporal claimed he buried treasure on Malaya's Batu Arang coalfields in 1945 he might be able to find it.

Earlier, the corporal, Yozaburo Yamada, a restaurant owner in Kanazawa City, claimed in a report from Japan that he buried 105 pounds of gold ingots, six boxes of silver, two boxes of diamonds, rubies and other jewels in an abandoned coalmine south of Batu Arang after it had been collected by the wartime Commander-in-Chief of Japanese forces, General Tomoyuki Yamashita.

"There are quite a number of abandoned coalmines more or less south of Batu Arang," Mr Warmington said.

"Most of them are flooded with water, some as deep as 600 feet."

Mr Warmington added: "It might be possible, especially if the Japanese corporal could come to Malaya and show us the spot, to pump out the water and start a search"—Reuter.

Cardinal's Historic Visit To Rome

Vatican City, May 7. Cardinal Stefan Wyszyński, Primate of Poland, will arrive in Rome tomorrow on a visit regarded in some quarters as of almost historic importance.

He is the first cardinal to visit Rome from a Communist-ruled country. He will report to Pope Pius XII on what is considered here to be the crucial role he played in helping Poland last autumn and winter to avoid the fate of Hungary.

Rigid precautions are being taken in his own interest and in those of his followers in Poland, to prevent him being received openly in Rome as a hero of the Roman Catholic Church of today, which many claim him to be.

According to present Vatican plans, the public and the press will be admitted to only one ceremony in which he will take part.

Even the conferment of the cardinal's "red hat" by the Pope will be in private.

In this atmosphere of semi-secrecy and highly disciplined discretion, the 85-year-old cardinal will visit the 12 sacred congregations, the "university" of the Roman Catholic Church.

His office of bishop imposed on him the duty to report to these congregations at regular intervals and to discuss with them
